

The three topics that I feel like I have used in this prototype is

- It is a low threshold low ceiling prototype since its really easy to use but the work does by the site is very specific
- I would also say the design is very usable as the design is very simple to learn, efficient in its task and easy to remember the flow of the design
- I would also say it is a very discoverable design as it has clear mapping on what is what and I have used some familiar patterns like the bell to symbol to Symbolise notification
